

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

When a remote display device is connected to a home network, a home network control apparatus receives a request from the remote display device, shows a display
5 for use in operating a device to be operated on the remote display device, and controls the device to be operated according to a desired operation input from the remote display device.

09/03/04 04:00